Message from the Vicar

Have you heard of Damien Hirst?
He's the artist who displayed half a cow or a shark in formaldehyde!

BUT he's done other works and I quite like them. He does large round canvases which he paints whilst they are spinning on a horizontal platform. He throws paint, and because of the spinning, some of the paint is thrown outwards and splatters the studio and some paint is brought into the centre like a whirlpool. The posh word for these directions of the paint is centripetal (brought to the centre) and centrifugal (being sent outwards).

Our church needs to be both of these movements. Because of the good news of faith and belonging we have, we should overflow, like the paint, to colour the community around us. We should also be an attractive spin which brings people to a centre point to worship JESUS.

I'm so glad vicars are not the centre point! Imagine that spinning canvas again, but with the spinning point off centre. The spin would be all unbalanced and chaotic and the paint would end up a grey mess or would leave areas uncovered.

As we 'spin' as a church, make sure not everything is kept inward looking, or we end up like grey sludge. Let some of our joy look outwards into the community. And make sure the centre spin is on JESUS.
